2.2.2 Credit Evaluation System

The semester system uses the credit system to give values to all subjects taught. To graduate, students are required to successfully complete the number of prescribed credits. This is in line with the Malaysian Qualifications Framework (MQF) requirements. (Note: Malaysian Qualifications Framework is an instrument that develops and classifies qualifications based on a set of criteria that have been agreed upon nationally and benchmarked with International practices, and which clarifies the academic level, learning outcomes and credit system based on student academic load.

A credit is the agreed-upon value to measure a student load in terms of learning time required to complete course units, resulting learning outcomes (UNESCO, 2004). As stated in the statutory of the MQA, under the MQF, the minimum credits required vary for the levels as below:

MQF Levels	Qualifications	Min Credit
8	Doctoral	No given credit
7	Fully or Partly Taught Masters	40
	Postgraduate Diploma	30
	Postgraduate Certificate	20
6	Bachelors	120
	Graduate Diploma	60
	Graduate Certificate	30
5	Advanced Diploma	40
4	Diploma	90
1-3	Certificate (Foundation)	60
	Skill Certificate	According to skill and level

TABLE 2: Malaysia Qualifications Framework: Proposed Minimum Credit

Credits are accumulated as student progresses through their period of study. Successful completion of courses leads to the award of the approved volume of credits at the prescribed level.

Calculation of credit hour is explained below (Based on the guidelines from MQA):

- a. For every 1 hour of lecture, tutorial and lab, it is proposed that student spends 1-2 hours of self-study.
- b. For every 1 hour of presentation, it is proposed that student requires 3-4 hours of preparation.

- c. For every 2000 words of assignment, it is proposed that student requires 10-12 hours of preparation.
- d. For every 3 hours of examination, it is proposed that student requires 10-20 hours of preparation.

Sample credit calculation:

Face to face requirements:

2 hours of lecture per week, 1 hour of tutorial per week

Assignments:

2 individual assignments, 1 project

Test/Exam:

1 class test, 1 final examination (3 hours)

Lecture		Tutorial		Others	Exam	Total
F	SL	F	SL
2 hrs x 14 wks = 28	2 hrs x 14 wks = 28	1 hrs x 14 wks = 14	1 hrs x 14 wks = 14	Assignment 1 = 6 hrs Assignment 2 = 6 hrs Project = 12 hours	Class test = 4 hours Final Exam = 10 hours	(28 + 28 + 14 + 14 + 6 + 6 + 12 + 4 + 10) = 122 hours
122 hours / 40 notional hours = 3.05
3 Credit Hour

Based on the above calculation, the credit hour for this particular course with the requirements mentioned before is 3 credit hours.

One (1) credit is equivalent to 40 notional hours of student's learning time per subject. Student learning time is calculated based on all learning activities, face to face and non-face to face/independent student learning time.

Examples of learning activities are shown in the list below:

- i. Face to face learning
 - Guided learning through lectures/tutorials/instructions

- Tests/quizzes
 - Seminars/invited speakers
 - Laboratory work
 - Field work/assignment
 - Project presentation
 - Industrial training
- ii. Independent learning
- Preparing for lessons/tutorials/practicals/presentations
 - Completing assignments
 - Completing project work (final year project)
 - Revising for examination & attempting examinations
- NOTE: Students are advised to register for not more than 20 credits per long semester and 10 credits per short semester. Students are only allowed to register more than the above-mentioned credits in specific situations where a written approval from the Head of Academic on the enrolment form is obtained during semester enrolment.

2.2.3 Mode of Study

Innovative is currently offering one mode of study, which is full time. As a full time student, one is registered to complete an award within the minimum period of registration, as prescribed in the programme structure.

2.2.4 Teaching Methodology

Teaching methodology explains the technique of managing teaching and learning. At Innovative, teaching is done through the traditional method of conducting a course of study:

- a. Face to face contact for lecture, tutorial, and laboratory sessions.
- b. Continuous assessments: both formative and summative assessments (quizzes, tests, assignments, projects, presentations, and final examinations)
- c. Online teaching and learning in which lectures/tutorials/assessments are offered in part or wholly via the internet.

2.2.5 Grading System

A student's performance in a subject is reflected by the grade received. The relationship between the grade and the point value is standardized for all courses in all programmes as shown in Table 4 and Table 5.

Grading System for Diploma Programme

The grading system used is as follows:

MARKS	GRADE	GRADE POINT	STATUS
90 – 100	A+	4.00	DISTINCTION

TABLE 5 : Relationship Between Marks, Grade and Grade Point

For Compulsory courses (MPU2163, MPU2133, MPU2212, MPU2222, MPU2412 and MPU2422), the grading system is shown in Table 6:

Marks	Grade / Status
75 – 100	A
65 – 74	B
50 – 64	C
0 - 49	Fail

GPA & CGPA

The Grade Point Average (GPA) is calculated by dividing the total number of grade points earned by the total number of credit hours attempted. GPA may range from 0.0 to 4.0.

$$\frac{\text{Total Number of Grade Points for one semester}}{\text{Total Credit Hours for one Semester}}$$

The Cumulative Grade Point Average (CGPA) is defined as the calculation of the cumulative grade point average value obtained by students in all subjects. The grade points obtained in all subjects are calculated along with the total number of credit hours' students have attempted.

$$\frac{\text{Total Number of Grade Points for all semesters}}{\text{Total Number of Credit Hours taken}}$$

Repeating & Re-sitting Criteria for Diploma Programmes

Students who failed a subject are required to repeat the failed subject during their study. To be eligible to re-sit an examination, a student must achieve between 35 to 39 marks.

The grading system used for re-sit examination is shown in Table 7:

MARKS	GRADE	GRADE POINT	STATUS
47 – 49	C-	1.67	CONDITIONAL PASS
44 – 46	D+	1.33
40 – 43	D	1.00
0 – 39	F	0.00	FAIL

2.3 Credit Transfer

Credit transfer in general has been standardized with the criteria that have been set by the Malaysian Qualifications Agency (MQA).

2.3.1 Diploma

1. Credit transfer from one diploma to another based on the courses that have been taken;
2. The syllabus/i of the course/s for credit transfer must cover at least 70% of the syllabus/i of the corresponding course/s at Innovative.
3. The grade obtained for the course/s for credit transfer shall be equivalent to at least grade C (refer to Table 4).
4. Credit transfer will follow the criteria and standard of the Malaysian Qualification Agency (MQA), which is credit transfer of not more than 30% from the total credits, where a maximum of 30 credit hours may be granted.
5. A committee appointed by the Head of School will conduct the vetting exercise of the credit transfer.
6. An interview shall be conducted to evaluate the capability of the student (if necessary).

2.3.2 Degree

Bachelor of Tourism Management (Hons) and Bachelor of Hospitality Management (Hons) – UUM

Please refer UUM Academic Handbook

<http://hea.uum.edu.my/index.php/24-handbook-faq/105-handbook>

2.4 Credit Transfer Process

A student is allowed to transfer credits for subjects that have already been taken at another academic programme. Transfer is the recognition of work by one school completed at another. Students who have completed a program of study at IIC may be able to transfer credits earned at IIC advanced standing in an approved transfer program at another college or university. Students must officially apply to have their credits recognized. If the courses students take are a good match, they may be able to use credits they have already earned to fulfil some of the requirements of the program they transfer to.

The credit of a subject may be transferred if:

- a. The subject(s) are of the same credit value or equivalent or more, to the subject(s) in the new programme;
- b. The subject(s) must be equivalent/similar to 80% in content based on subject to subject comparison;
- c. The subject(s) must be from an accredited programme;
- d. The student must have obtained at least a grade C or equivalent in the subject(s)

Note: For the credit transfer process, refer to Table 8.

1.	Process of Evaluation	The course has to be compared: a) Between similar level of study b) Course by course, and c) Content for content
2.	Evaluate and compare courses at the same level of study; Diploma to Diploma, or Degree to Degree	A Diploma level course can only be accepted and transferred to another Diploma level programme. It cannot be compared and transferred to a Degree level programme. The degree programme is at a different level of study.

		It is possible to accept a Diploma level programme for certificate level programme, but this is not always true as the objectives and outcomes may be different. Certainly, there cannot be a transfer of credit from a certificate level programme to a Diploma level programme.
3.	Evaluate and compare course by course and semester by semester	The semester in which different study courses are placed vary with institutions, depending on the programme and its objectives and philosophy. For a given course, some institutions find it better to place them in the early years of study, but others put them in the higher semesters. Hence, in the credit transfer evaluation, it is necessary to search if there are courses of study in the new programme that is equivalent to the one the student has studied at the previous programme. Note: It does not automatically follow that if a student has completed Year 1 in one institution, they can continue in Year 2 in the next institution. When the credit transfer is done, it is possible for a student to be placed at semester 3 but having to do a number of courses in semester 1 and 2, or be placed in semester 2 but given exemptions of minor courses in semester 3 and 4.
4.	Evaluate and compare the course content	Courses taught in the first year of study e.g. Introduction to Business and Business Foundation have very different names but the content and objectives may be very similar. If the levels are the same, they are transferable.
5.	Documentation	Student must produce a copy of their transcript and the

		official course outlines for the courses they are applying for exemption. Portfolio of work may also be required.

TABLE 8: Credit Evaluation & Transfer

2.5 Subject Exemption

Subject Exemption allows students to be exempted from having to take a subject but they must replace the credit in order to fulfil the required total credit to graduate. The value and grade of the replacement subjects will be calculated into the student's GPA & CGPA.

2.6 Academic Regulations

2.6.1 Registration

Students must register for their subjects within the timeframe allocated for semester enrolment. The registration dates are published via:

1. Innovative Management System (IMS)

2.6.1.1 Late Registration

Students are responsible to verify the correctness of their registered subjects and keep a copy of the semester enrolment form.

2.6.1.2 Add/Drop a course

A student can add a course if:

1. The total credit hours registered for a particular semester do not exceed the maximum credit hours allowed (20 credits for long semester and 10 credits for short semester).
2. Application to add a course is done within the timeframe allocated in the Academic Calendar.
3. Approval is granted by the Programme Leader/Head of School.

If students wish to carry an extra load, or to reduce the total credit hours more than is allowed, they can appeal to the Programme Leader/Head of School.

Important note:

If students do not register their current semester during the permitted time, the student status shall be automatically classified as having deferred their study for the current semester.

Generally, students are permitted to defer their study for maximum of two times only.

As a consequence of failure of students to register themselves for the current semester after having deferred their study twice, the students shall be automatically terminated.

2.6.2 Attendance

Students must fulfill the attendance requirements as set by both the institution and the Ministry of Higher Education.

Students must attend a minimum of 80% of overall attendance. Failing to do so will result in being barred from sitting for final examination.

For international students who fail to fulfill the attendance requirements, a report to the Immigration will be lodged. This will result in termination of student's visa.

A formal warning letter will be given to students whose attendance is below satisfactory. Table 8 shows the absenteeism procedure.

CIEP / CAEP	Diploma	Remarks

Students are allowed to borrow 2 books for 2 weeks. The IIC Library is responsible to determine the rules and regulations for user behavior and conduct in the library. It is to enable the best distribution of resources and facilities for all.

These rules are intended to;

- Protect the rights of users, the use of library materials and facilities.

3.2 Computer Lab

Computer Lab Rules

General

All computer users (staff, students, and others) are expected to be responsible for their own behavior on the computer system, including the Internet, just as they are anywhere else in the college. Users are Reminded that their actions can represent the entire college community. This includes materials they choose to access, language they use, ideas they express, and other actions which they take.

Uncertainty

If you are unsure of what to do, for instance in the case of an error message, a web site offer, a strange e-mail, a hardware malfunction, etc., ask a lab supervisor. It is better to wait and ask than to take an action by yourself that would compromise the computer, or the network.

No Noise

Noise must be kept to a minimum to avoid causing distraction of concentration. Please do not let your phone ring, and do not have conversations, or listen to music without headphones in the lab. Students are not allowed to access the computer lab when they are scheduled to have other classes.

Air Conditioning

Because the labs are air conditioned, doors and windows must be kept closed. This is also to prevent the insects which can damage the computers.

Equal Access

It is common that there are not enough computers for the number of people who want to use them (more users than computers). In order to ensure that everyone has some opportunity to use the computers, please limit computer use to one hour, if there are people waiting.

In order to manage this process, please observe the following:

- Add your name to the bottom of the list if there is a computer free and note the time you begin using the computer.
- If you are waiting, check if there is someone who has been using the computer for more than one hour. If there is, you may ask this person to leave and if they should leave, then you can use the computer (note the time in the list).

- When you leave, please note the time you had finished. If no one is waiting, you may use the computer for more than one hour.
- When you are asked to leave, you may add your name to the list again if you want to continue using the computer. Please be respectful of your fellow students and help ensure that everyone has a fair chance to use the computers.
- Broken Equipment - Do not try to repair the equipment yourself. If you encounter problems with equipment, you should report this to the lab supervisor.
- Cleanliness - Smoking, drinking, or eating in the lab can damage the equipment and attract insects or rodents and these actions are strictly prohibited. Please keep the lab neat; clean up any mess, use rubbish bins, and leave equipment and furniture properly arranged.

Inappropriate Content

Controversial content (e.g. pornography) is not appropriate in an academic setting. Users should expect that their browsing history will be recorded, and might be examined by system administrators. For more details, see the ICT Policy and sections below on Web and E-Mail Usage.

Account Usage

Each user must have his/her own account. Accounts are not to be shared. This is for accountability and security. You must log out when you leave. Users should not access other people's files unless permission has been given by the owner of the file.

Programs (e.g. Yahoo Chat) may NOT be downloaded and installed from the internet. If you are unsure whether a web page is downloading a program, please ask a lab supervisor. This is for security and uniform lab maintenance. Personal program files may NOT be installed. This is for licensing and security reasons.

Personal work files, such as documents, may be brought into the lab, but must be scanned for viruses prior to use, to prevent system infection. Ask a lab supervisor for details. Hacking (attempting to gain unauthorized access to secured content, violating system policies and/or permissions, creating viruses or propagation, etc.) is prohibited.

Web Usage

Computer users browsing the World Wide Web are expected to avoid offensive materials. Should any user encounter any such material accidentally, they should report immediately to an instructor. Users should expect that their browsing history will be recorded, and might be examined by system administrators.

Users should note that the internet is available to all kinds of people, and that there are many scams and otherwise illegal or immoral activities on the internet. They should be just as cautious of information on the internet as they should be in the streets. Bandwidth is a limited resource. When throughput is slow, you may be asked to cease high-bandwidth activity (e.g. music downloading).

E-Mail Usage

Computer users should realize that, in their on-line communications, their actions may be interpreted to represent the college community. Therefore, users should not use any rude language, or communicate any offensive ideas.

Users should again note that the internet is available to all kinds of people, and there are many scams and otherwise illegal activity perpetrated through e-mail. E-mail from unknown persons should be received very cautiously. You are cautioned against giving out your personal information (such as name, phone, and address). It is forbidden to forward chain letters/e-mails. These are defined as any e-mail which states that it should be forwarded to others. These especially include warnings of viruses, worms, security warnings, etc. Such warnings will be sent by system administrators only.

Immigration Policies for International Students

All international students are required to comply with policies set by the Immigration Department of Malaysia. Please adhere strictly to these requirements to minimize delay and other problems that may arise.

Requirements for New International Students:

Your passport needs a minimum validity for 18 months (1 ½ year) to come into the country.

Procedure for New International Students:

- To apply for your student pass, please coordinate and send all the necessary documents to the University's marketing counsellors. They will submit this to the Education Malaysia Global Service (EMGS) for processing and send it to immigration. Note that VAL processing takes 6 to 8 weeks.
- Once approved by the immigration, the University will send you your Visa Approval Letter (VAL). All new students MUST go to the nearest Malaysian Embassy (preferably in their home country) to obtain a "Single Entry Visa" and come into Malaysia at least 1 month before their VAL expires.
- The VAL is valid only for 6 months. You should get your "Single Entry Visa" and come into Malaysia at least 1 month before your VAL expires.
- Once you get your "Single Entry Visa" and have made your travel arrangements, inform the University at least seven (7) working days before departing from your country. Bring a copy of your VAL.
- Your passport must be submitted to the visa unit at least 23 days before your VAL expires.
- As required by the Malaysian government, international students need to undergo two sets of health examination/ medical check-up:
 - First health examination – International students must undergo the medical check-up in their respective countries before leaving for Malaysia. They will need to send a softcopy immediately to the college. Upon arrival, they will also need to hand-over the original copy to the International Student Office Department.
 - Second health examination – International students need to undergo a second medical check-up within seven (7) days of arrival in Malaysia.
- What's the difference between VAL & Visa sticker?

The VAL is your letter from the Immigration allowing you to study in Malaysia. Your "Single Entry Visa" is a stamp in your passport that the Malaysian Embassy in your home country issues after you submit your VAL.

6. LIVING IN MALAYSIA

6.1 About Malaysia

Malaysia consists of 13 states and 3 federal territories populated by multiple ethnic groups. The Malays form the majority of the population, followed by Chinese and Indian communities. Peninsula Malaysia shares a land border with Thailand in the north, while across the Straits of Johor in the South, just a short drive over the connecting causeway, is the island nation of Singapore. Across the Straits of Malacca to the west, lies the Indonesian island of Sumatra. Sabah and Sarawak are located on the northern coast of the island of Borneo, their neighbours being Brunei, Indonesia and the Philippines. Kuala Lumpur is the capital of Malaysia and the largest city in the nation. It is home to almost one and a half million people who hail from Malaysia's many diverse ethnic groups.

Climate

Malaysia's tropical climate is the result of its proximity to the Equator. The country enjoys a perpetual summer with a high humidity of about 80% all year round. It has an annual rainfall of between 2,032mm and 2,450mm. The climate is affected by the north-east and south-west monsoon, tropical winds that alternate during the course of the year. The north-east monsoon prevails from November to March and brings rain to the east coast of the Peninsula. The south-west monsoon is from mid-May to September.

Major Religions

Malaysia is home to many faiths, with Islam being the official religion. All ethnic Malays are considered Muslims. Ethnic Chinese are predominantly Buddhists while some are followers of Taoism and Christianity. The majority of ethnic Indians follow Hinduism with significant minority identifying themselves as Christians and Muslims.

Major Festivals

Malaysians observe a number of public holidays and festivals throughout the year. Some holidays are gazetted as federal public holidays and some are public holidays observed by individual states. The Open House is a concept in Malaysia where the hosts invite their family, friends, relatives and acquaintances to their houses to participate in the celebration of festivals. Open houses may be held from and until a specific time while some Open Houses may be held throughout the entire day and guests are free to come and go.

The major festival observed by the Muslims is Hari Raya Aidilfitri to mark the end of the month of Ramadan, which is the designated fasting month. Muslims also celebrate Hari Raya AidilAdha, Awal Muharram and other Muslim festivals.

As for the Chinese in Malaysia, the most celebrated festival is Chinese New Year which lasts for 15 days and ends with Chap Goh Mei. Other festivals celebrated by the Chinese are the Qingming Festival, Dragon Boat festival and the mid-Autumn Festival. Buddhist Chinese celebrate Wesak Day.

Most Indians in Malaysia subscribe to the Hindu religion and they celebrate Deepavali and Thaipusam.

Malaysians

Most Malaysians can speak a variety of languages, including English. They speak English most commonly referred to as Manglish, or “Malaysian English”. It incorporates words from other languages such as Cantonese, Malay and Tamil. It is not unusual to hear.

Malaysians punctuate their sentences with fillers such as “oh”, “lah”, “mah”, to name a few. Foreigners who first arrive in Malaysia may find it difficult to understand the locals when they speak English.

Malaysians are generally a friendly and helpful lot. Being made up of several different racial and ethnic groups and being citizens of a country which has been colonized by more than their fair share of European powers, Malaysians are no strangers to cultural diversity and generally welcome foreigners with open hearts.

Some dos and don'ts

Malaysia is generally a relaxed and easygoing place. Although most Malaysians would be forgiving of a foreigner who commits faux pas, they would certainly appreciate and respect those who are well-versed with the local custom and etiquette.

Social interactions

Hugging and kissing is not practiced among non-family members, so except for children, refrain from doing so, no matter how fond you become of someone, especially someone of the opposite sex. Necking or fondling each other in public is a no-no, particularly in rural areas.

Shoes must always be removed before entering the home of a Malaysian as well as places of worship such as mosques and temples. The right hand is always used for eating or when giving and receiving objects. The left is traditionally “unclean” because of its washroom connections.

The right forefinger is not used to point at places, objects or persons. Instead, pointing with the thumb of the right hand with the fingers folded under is considered more polite.

Although handshakes are generally acceptable for both men and women, some Muslim ladies may acknowledge introductions to gentleman by merely nodding and smiling. Please do not be offended if a Muslim women declines to shake hands with you (if you are male). A handshake should only be initiated by ladies. The traditional greeting or 'salam' resembles a handshake with both hands but without the grasp.

The man offers both hands, lightly touches his friend's outstretched hands, and then brings his hands to his chest to mean, "I greet you from my heart". The visitor should reciprocate the "salam".

Dressing

Malaysia is predominantly a Muslim country but you will find both men and women dressed in many types of clothes which may or may not be deemed conservative and religious. In the cities, you will tend to find more liberal dress codes amongst the inhabitants. When visiting rural areas however, you may observe that people are dressed more conservatively and it may be wise to adopt a more modest form of attire. However, when visiting places of religious significance or worship, please respect others by dressing modestly; no shorts or slippers (for men), no revealing dresses or bearing of arms (for women).

6.2 Culture Shock

Culture shock refers to the mental shock one can experience when moving to a new country and having to adjust to a new culture which is dramatically different from one's own.

When you first arrive, you might feel excited and everything about the new country appears fascinating and the future looks promising. After some time, you might start experiencing symptoms of culture shock such as homesickness, irritability, nervousness, fear and anxiety. You may even experience physical symptoms such as headaches and have trouble sleeping. Take heart that the effects of culture shock are only temporary.

If you still continue to be affected by your new and strange environment, remember that you have many resources at hand to help you adjust to your new life in Malaysia.

You can speak to your lecturer, staff in Innovative International College or other international students who will know exactly what you are experiencing.

Some of the things you can do to cope with fitting into a new environment:

- a) Don't panic.
- b) Find out as much as you can about Malaysia before you arrive. Knowing what to expect when you come over help reduce anxiety.
- c) Accept that no matter how well prepared you are, you will experience culture shock to some extent.

- d) Keep an open mind and a sense of humour.
- e) Explore and familiarize yourself with the local culture.
- f) Make friends with other international students as well local students.
- g) Accept that while culture shock may be painful, it can be a valuable experience that will leave you with broader perspective and a deeper insight into yourself.

6.3 Malaysian Laws

When you are in Malaysia, please remember that even if you are a foreign national, you are subject to Malaysia law and penalties. If you happen to get arrested or imprisoned, your government may try their best to help you in any way they can but they cannot get you out of trouble or keep you out of jail. Please check with your country's consular offices and embassies on what they can and cannot do to help you when you land yourself in trouble while abroad.

All international students are advised to carry with them a photocopy of their passport and visa as well as their medical card at all times. Police officers may conduct random checks and both citizens and non-citizens are expected to produce some form of identification. Failure to do so may result in immediate arrest and detention. You are encouraged to apply for the Malaysian I-Kad which is issued to foreign nationals working or studying in Malaysia. It has 17 security features and equipped with a microchip containing the biometric thumbprint of the holder. You may carry the I-Kad with you in place of your passport if you are concerned about losing or misplacing your passport. Some foreign nationals continue to be subject to their country's criminal laws even though the offences in question are committed abroad. This means that if you commit certain offences in a foreign country, you may be prosecuted in your home country. Please check which of these laws apply to you.

6.4 Drug Offences

Malaysia imposes a severe penalty for drug offences. Drug trafficking carries the mandatory death penalty if found guilty.

6.5 Safety

Malaysia is a relatively safe country but this doesn't mean that you don't need to be sensible and take unnecessary risks. Always be on the alert. Pickpockets are able to fleece your wallet without you even being aware of it. Snatch thieves often operate in twos using motorcycles where they will speed past you and grab your bag off you. In some cases, they may drag you along the road causing serious injuries or even death. If you cannot avoid travelling at night, please take as many precautions as you can. It may not guarantee your safety and security but it will at least minimize the risks to your personal safety and security.

Try to practice the following;

1. Walk in well-lit, busy areas and travel home or anywhere in a group.
2. If you are travelling by bus, avoid isolated bus stops, especially after dark.
3. Plan your journey home in advance.
4. Ensure that you have money for a taxi to take you home.

If you are unfortunate enough to be a victim of crime, please adopt the following steps;

1. Go to nearest police station to lodge a report.
2. Get the police inspector's contact number.
3. Keep a copy of police report.
4. Come to International Student Office Department to inform them what happened .

6.6 Identity theft

Identity theft is not unknown in Malaysia. There have been cases of unauthorized withdrawals made from bank accounts and fraudulent use of credit and debit cards.

1. Never ever give out your PIN numbers to anyone.
2. Be wary of "phishing" emails sent to your email account purportedly by your bank or other organizations, requesting you to enter your bank or credit card details for the purpose of verification. If you receive such mail, report it to your bank immediately.
3. Do not give personal details over the phone, even if it is from your bank. They should have it on their system and do not need to ask you for them.
4. Avoid leaving your mail lying about.
5. Shred or destroy all documents containing sensitive personal information.
6. Immediately report lost or stolen credit or debit cards.
7. Select strong passwords. Avoid using words or numbers that others can guess easily. These include your date of birth, your address, passport or identity card number.

6.7 Contacting Home

There are many ways you can stay in touch with family and friends back home while you are studying in Malaysia.

- Public phones

Most public phones accept coins and telephone cards which can be purchased at bookshops or corner shops. International direct dial calls and operator assisted calls can be made from any private phones.

The access code for making most international calls is 00. For information on international calls, dial 103. For operator assisted calls, dial 108. International direct dialling phone cards, which offer cheaper rates than local telephone operators, are also available for sale in most urban centres – the usual outlets which stock these are 7-11, newsstands and shops. Public payphones throughout the country are offered by Uniphone, Citiphone and TM.

- Mobile phone

Almost everyone has a mobile phone in Malaysia. It is very easy to purchase a mobile phone and sim card in Malaysia. You can purchase a cheap mobile phone and a sim card to go with it almost anywhere; in mobile phone shops and interim booths. There are 4 different mobile telecommunications providers to choose from; namely DiGi, Maxis, Celcom, U-Mobile and Tune-talk.

- Postal service

Post offices in Malaysia are open from 08:30 till 17:00 from Monday to Saturday. They are closed on Sundays and public holidays. Parcels can be sent from any post office although the rates are fairly high. Other than the ordinary delivery services, there is also a national courier service known as Poslaju or Expedited Mail Service (EMS). Malaysia is also serviced by private courier companies such as DHL, UPS, FedEx, City-Link and etc.

- Email

If you do not have your own computer, sign up with one of the many web-based e-mail services available (Hotmail, Yahoo, Gmail, and so on) and then check your e-mail using online terminals at your institution, a public library or a friend's home. This option should cost you absolutely nothing. You will also find that most high streets have internet cafés, where you pay by the hour. If you have your own laptop, Wi-Fi can be accessed for free in an increasing number of coffee shops and public places.

- Skype

As long as your PC meets the system requirements, all you have to do is download Skype onto your PC, have a speaker and microphone ready and you can make free calls from your PC to another PC. You can also make calls through your PC to phones and mobile phones. See www.skype.com for more details.

6.13 Exploring Malaysia

With its warm climate, friendly people, rich culture, natural beauty and modern cities, Malaysia makes for the perfect sight-seeing destination.

Malaysia's primary gateway is the state-of-the-art Kuala Lumpur International Airport (KLIA). It is located in Sepang, which is about 50km (less than an hour's drive via highway) south of Kuala Lumpur. Air travel is popular in Sabah and Sarawak because of the states' mountainous and lush terrain. It's quite normal to catch a flight from Sabah to Sarawak and vice versa, as well as to hire helicopters to get around within either state.

6.9 Public Transportation

- Trains

An extensive rail transport system links major parts of Kuala Lumpur, serviced by Putra and STAR Light Rail Transit (LRT), KL Monorail and KTM Kommuter. These services are frequent, punctual and hassle-free. Feeder bus services are available from train stations to designated surrounding areas. Weekly and monthly passes are available for frequent travellers. All lines, except the STAR LRT converge at the KL Sentral Station.

- Buses

In Kuala Lumpur, bus services such as Rapid KL, City Liner and Metrobus play a network of routes. Feeder buses are available from LRT stations to designated surrounding areas. Express air-conditioned buses are available to all states in Peninsular Malaysia. The main terminals in Kuala Lumpur are Puduraya Bus Terminal for north bound travellers, Terminal Bersepadu Selatan (TBS) for south bound travellers, Pekeliling Bus Station mainly East coast States and Duta Bus Terminal mainly going to Northern states. Tickets must be purchased early during festive seasons. Visitors are advised to carry adequate small change before boarding buses and taxis.

- Taxis

Taxis fares are charged according to metered rate and are available 24 hours a day. The flag-off rate is RM 3.00 and 10 cents is charged for every subsequent 115 metres. Extra charges apply for services after midnight or services booked over the telephone.

It is not unknown for taxi drivers to charge a flat (and usually higher) rate to foreigners for their services.
